

CRM4FE

CRM4FE started life focused on Employer Engagement and was developed in association with experienced FE practitioners. The roots of our CRM expertise started in 1985, tens of thousands of Clients already use our systems worldwide.

If your various IT & MIS systems are not talking to each other then it is time you took control of your suppliers and standardise on a single platform, browser based solutions offer the lowest possible cost of ownership.

Colleges that rely heavily on external providers for solutions developed on standard systems the Colleges fail to control such as SQL can find themselves spending excessively on compulsory support, compulsory upgrades and constant bug fixes, in addition you will always be dependant upon external consultants and still end up with fragmented MIS systems.

By utilising existing data resources and using its own in house capability a College will have the opportunity to exit from high cost support agreements and redress much of the risk presented at contract renewal times because the college would then have full control over their own systems.

CRM4FE relies upon the fundamental principle that your objectives, whether complex process driven or labour intensive and strictly regulated can be implemented using standard systems and resources in a consistent and compliant manner with due regard for best practice.

Our experience of CRM systems over the past 25 years place us in a strong position to deliver data solutions that you control within agreed budget and time frames that your team will enjoy using
